Diversity and Inclusion

• Diversity – individual differences
  – Race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, socio-economic status, age, physical abilities, religious beliefs, political beliefs... etc.

• Inclusion – behaviors and mindset
  – Promoting respect, belonging, leveraging the value and harnessing the power of diversity to the benefit of the organization
Individual differences are not always visible
Improving inclusivity – removing barriers to inclusion

• Explicit exclusion
• Unconscious Bias
• Micro-messages
• Accumulated advantage/disadvantage
• Privilege
’Diversity’ is being invited to the dance.

’Inclusion’ is being invited to dance.
ABET’s Policy on Diversity

ABET is committed to developing and using the talents of all qualified persons who study or work in the applied science, computing, engineering, and engineering technology professions.

We respect the human qualities, both similarities and differences, present in the work and study environments of our constituencies as they are affected by our efforts to assure quality and stimulate innovation.

The actions of ABET’s program evaluators, commissioners, staff, and Board of Directors must demonstrate and confirm respect for each other and the contributions that each of us can make.

Our professions benefit from the creativity and constructive improvements best informed and achieved by persons with varied perspectives, experiences, and talents who work toward shared goals.

Differences and similarities among the ABET constituency include, but are not limited to:

- age and experience
- economic status
- education and training
- employment history
- gender
- job level

- physical and mental abilities
- professional employment
- race, nationality, and ethnicity
- religion
- sexual orientation
- ways of learning and communicating
1. What should be the role of ABET in either advocating for, or considering, diversity and inclusion in ABET-accredited programs?

2. Is excellence in diversity and inclusion a marker of quality that ABET accreditation processes should consider?
3. Can (or should) the accreditation process be leveraged to improve diversity and inclusion?

4. Should ABET require programs to reflect (in their self-study) on their goals and processes for continuous improvement in diversity and/or inclusion?
5. Should the accreditation process consider institutionally-defined or program-defined metrics for diversity and inclusion in the criteria?
6. If so, which accreditation criteria would you use to require diversity and/or inclusivity markers?

- Criteria 1 – Students
- Criteria 2 – Program Educational Objectives
- Criteria 3 – Student Outcomes
- Criteria 4 – Continuous Improvement
- Criteria 5 – Curriculum
- Criteria 6 – Faculty
- Criteria 7 - Facilities
- Criteria 8 – Institutional Support
