

New Pathway to Engineering Degree

ENGINEERING
TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

TEXAS A&M-CHEVRON ENGINEERING ACADEMIES

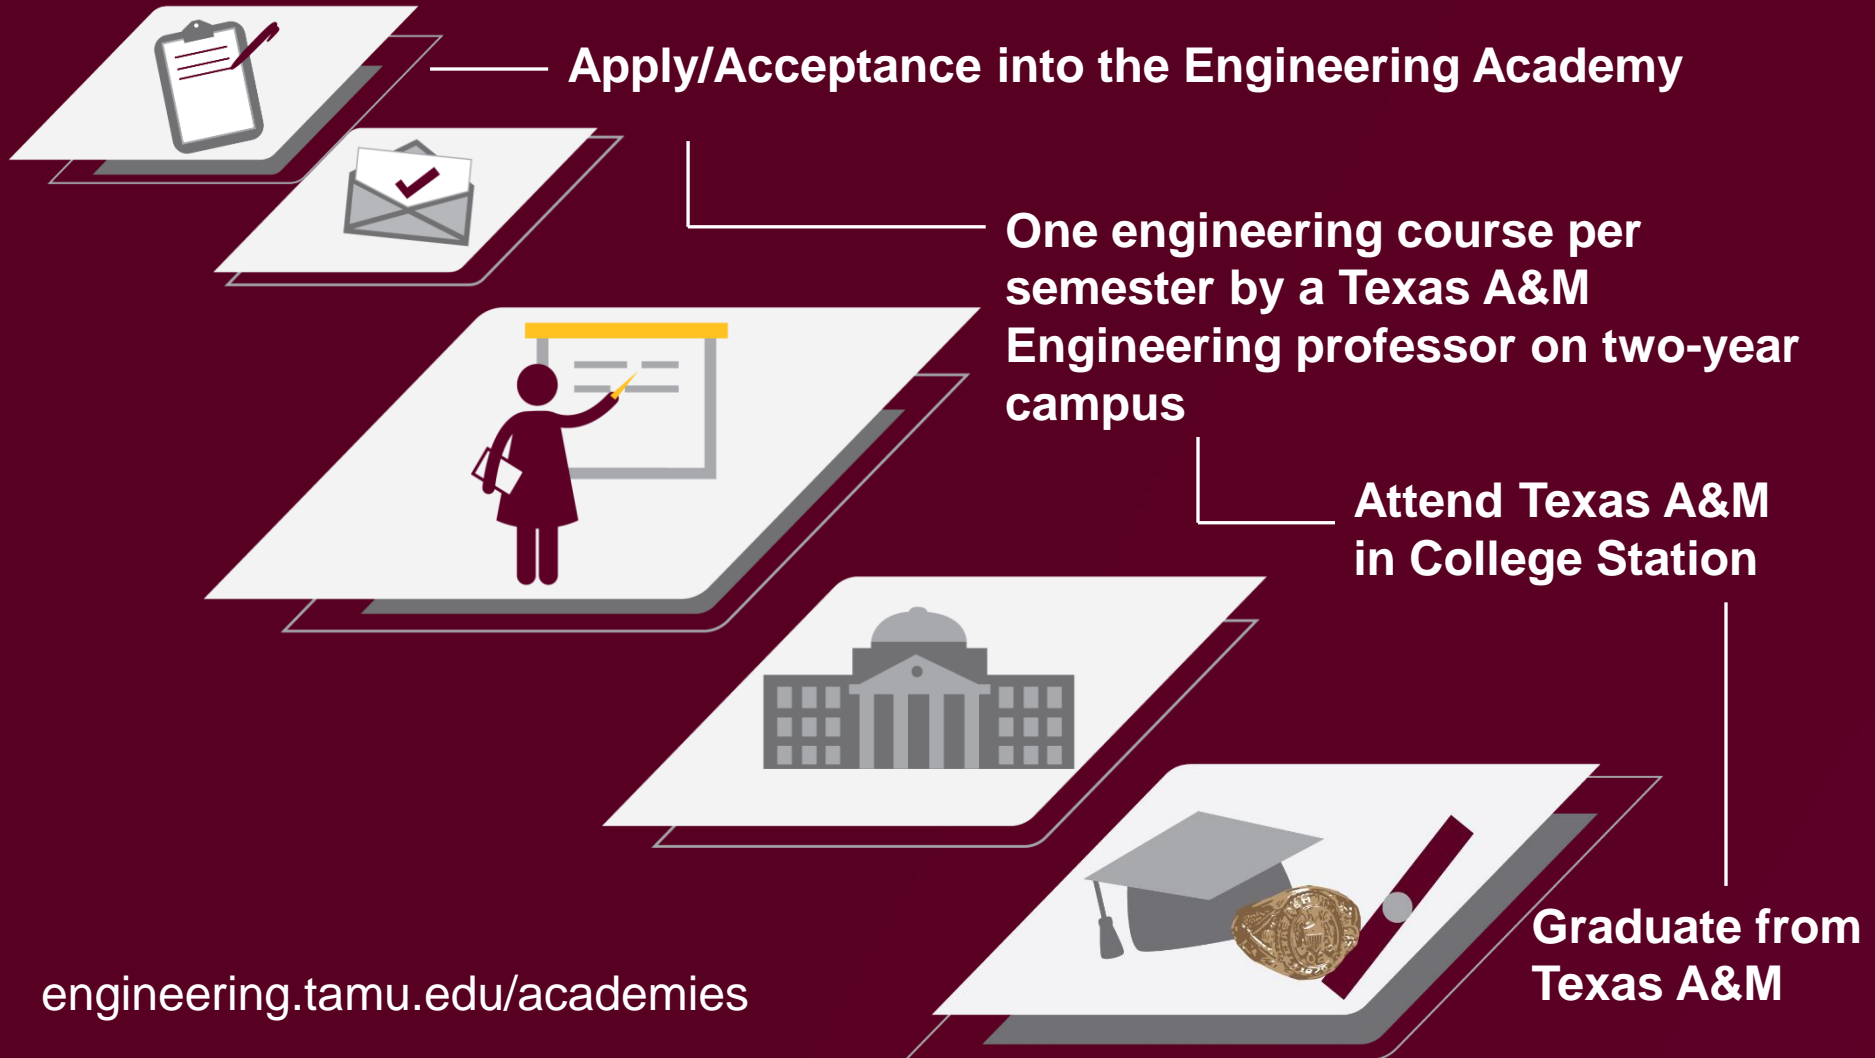

NEW PROGRAM WILL CREATE AN INNOVATIVE WAY
FOR STUDENTS TO EARN THEIR ENGINEERING DEGREE

- Texas has second highest estimated higher education enrollment across the nation with 1.4 million students
- Texas has the highest percent of students completing four-year degrees who also previously enrolled at a two-year institution

Texas A&M-Chevron Engineering Academies

ENGINEERING
TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

Texas A&M–Chevron Engineering Academy at Houston Community College

ENGINEERING
TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

79%

HCC participants from underrepresented
populations

Two year co-enrollment engineering programs
between Texas A&M and two-year institutions

- Direct path to an engineering degree from Texas A&M
- Students earn measurable progress to a bachelor's degree while completing their associate's degree
- Positively impacts state and national workforce needs
- Creates diverse and inclusive talent pool representative of the state demographics

